

Meet the 7 Guardian Archangels: One for Every Day of the Week

Archangelic energy is potent.

If you've worked personally with any of the Archangels, then you'll know this already. If you've been brave and open enough to invite their presence into your life, you'll have seen how quickly they can help to shift things, altering the shape of the world you inhabit in moments!

Angelic energy is light, refined, essential.

It can't be weighed down by fear, anger, irritation or any of the heavy human emotions that I'll bet you feel most days, and that routinely cloud your view of life. You know when an Archangel is close because your own perspectives seem to clarify and these polarising feelings drop away with ease. And with a clearer, cleaner energy field, opportunities arise. Synchronicities happen. Plans work out and life flows seamlessly. You could say miraculously.

But the archangels will only give so much. They require something from you, too, to keep bumping up your life, love, work and relationships to the next level. So what is it?

It's your participation.

Archangels won't do the work for you. You need to work in partnership with archangels. And to make your partnership the best it can be, to make the changes in your life that you need, and you're asking for, it's vital to request the intervention of the right archangel. The archangel that holds the precise power that you need.

Each archangel has different skills, specialties, interests, expertise. Much like humans, they are gifted with fortitudes in some areas, and leave other areas alone. It's the order of the Universe, it forms the basis of the patterns which tie it all together. And like all great patterns, these angelic codes overlay and resonate with other templates, designs and sequences that move through our reality too. Patterns such as colour frequencies, planetary bodies, numbers, elements, human activities and ... days of the week.

That's right.

7 Archangels for Each Day of the Week

There are 7 unique archangels which resonate strongly and clearly with the 7 days of the week.

Which means that if you want to work specifically with one of them and you choose your day with care, your efforts will be whole lot more aligned (and more effective) than if you pick a day at random. This isn't to say there is a "wrong" day to work with an archangel. Inviting in angelic assistance on any day of the week is a thousand times better than holding back and not pitching in for any help at all.

But try it.

And try adding in some of their other associations too.

Remember, your participation is what counts.

Sundays Archangel – Michael

Archangel Michael is the resonant Angel of Sundays.

Often called St. Michael the Archangel, he's the leader of all archangels and is known by many as the guardian of light workers.

He's all-powerful, so regardless of what you need, he is your go-to angel.

He is strong, courageous, inspiring and motivating and his chief function is to rid the earth and its inhabitants of fear and negative energy.

Archangel Michael is often depicted carrying a sword which he uses to cut away emotional entanglements, freeing those who request his assistance from fear, negativity and unwanted attachments. He is here to guide you toward your true life purpose while empowering you with the courage and confidence you need to be a shining light in the world.

Invoke his presence and he will guard and protect you from the kinds of negativity coming from other people, situations and hostile environments by surrounding you with a shield of love.

Archangel Michael resonates with the color blue, with the Sun - the source of all light on Earth - and with the number 6.

Mondays Archangel –Gabriel

Archangel Gabriel is the resonant angel of Mondays.

Known as the angel of revelation, she's the most feminine of all archangels and is known by many as the guardian of creative expression, children and the home.

She is also the divine ambassador for change and the understanding that all things come and go. So if you need to nurture something to grow in your life or you have something to release, she is your go-to angel.

She is imaginative, creative and generous. One of her chief functions is assisting us to communicate with grace and power, spreading truth amongst humankind. Whether it's in the way we raise our children or the way we relate to each other every day at home, or through the creative arts, she is here to assist.

Archangel Gabriel is often depicted carrying a horn which she uses to help you gain clarity about your decisions, express your emotions, communicate clearly and effectively, and share your unique message with the world. She will free those who request her assistance from misunderstanding, confusion and deceit and is here to guide you toward your true expression so that you can grow and expand your light into the world.

Invoke her presence and she will enliven your imaginative, intuitive abilities and assist you with your creative projects, as well as in raising children with clear guidance.

Archangel Gabriel resonates with the color white, with the Moon and with the number 4.

Tuesdays Archangel – Chamuel

Archangel Chamuel is the resonant angel of Tuesdays.

Known as the angel of love, peace and omniscient vision, she sees the connections between everything and everyone.

She is known for her gift of higher perspective, so if you are stuck in a situation you see no way out of, especially if it involves a relationship, she is your go-to angel.

She is peaceful, reassuring and incredibly loving. One of her chief functions is assisting us to lead lives of peace and acceptance, especially within loving relationships through the practice of unconditional love.

Archangel Chamuel is often depicted with a heart, the symbol of love, which she uses to remind us of this underlying force of nature which connects us all. She is here to teach you that with love as your guiding light, you're capable of breaking through any difficulties, and her presence will help you to resolve any conflict you face.

Invoke her presence and she'll remind you of your place of belonging - at the heart of your personal world. She will re-connect you to those you love and bring peace and balance. Archangel Chamuel can also be asked for help in reuniting you with people and things you have lost.

Archangel Chamuel resonates with the color pink, with the planet Venus and the number 9.

Wednesdays Archangel – Raphael

Archangel Raphael is the resonant angel of Wednesdays.

Known as the angel of healing and miracles, he is a powerful transmutor of anything which is out of alignment in your life. Here to help you restore your physical, financial, emotional, and spiritual well-being so if you are lacking in any area of your life, he is your go-to angel.

He is the bringer of knowledge and wisdom.

One of his chief functions is to give you the right tools and show you the right way to self-improvement, so through practising radical self-love and compassion the planet will be healed one precious human at a time.

Archangel Raphael is often depicted carrying a staff or with the caduceus, both symbols of medicine. He uses his gifts to bring you closer to God and your own divine nature, to enable personal healing to take place.

Invoke his presence and he will show you the path you need to take in real, practical steps. Archangel Raphael is intimately connected with nature and animals and the wisdom and medicine inherent in the natural world. He can assist you in finding and healing lost or wounded pets.

Archangel Raphael resonates with the color green, with the planet Mercury and with the number 7.

Thursdays Archangel – Zadkiel

Archangel Zadkiel (also known as Archangel Sachiël) is the resonant Angel for Thursdays.

Known as the angel of mercy, benevolence and compassion, he's an incredibly powerful force, encouraging us to seek, and offer forgiveness.

He is a bringer of deep truth, understanding and connection to Source. One of his chief functions is to guide humanity towards a higher path, freeing us from the shackles of pain, guilt and shame.

Archangel Zadkiel is often depicted holding a small dagger because, in the Jewish story, mercy was offered to Abraham after he tried to sacrifice his son Isaac to God. It was Archangel Zadkiel who called down from Heaven to stop him just in time.

Archangel Zadkiel is also closely associated with the Violet Flame, which is a potent spiritual practice of transmutation (you can read about it here) <http://thevioletflame.tripod.com/>

Invoke his presence and he will lead you up towards higher octaves of Spiritual awareness and ultimately closer to God.

If you are looking to break through barriers you have to success and abundance, Archangel Zadkiel is also a powerful ally to invoke, as he can help you transmute old, unhealthy conditioning around self-worth and poverty, into states of prosperity and freedom.

As the guardian of memory, he can also help you remember your divine mission in life.

Archangel Zadkiel resonates with the color purple, with the planet Jupiter and the number 5.

Fridays Archangel – Ariel

Archangel Ariel (also known as Anael) is the resonant angel for Fridays.

Known as the angel of nature, she's often seen as the protectress of the natural world, and the overseer of the elements, animal kingdom and plant world. She is also regarded by many as the gatekeeper between the human and nature-spirit realms of fairies, sprites and elementals.

If you want to protect a part of the natural world (and let's face it, most of it needs protection these days) then she's your go-to angel. She is also answerable to, by those who harm it.

She is fiercely loyal, protective and healing, often working closely with Archangel Raphael. One of her chief functions is the protection of animals, as rightful co-inhabitants of this planet. She is here to assist us in this task, and encourages us to take responsibility for the restoration and preservation of the Earth, such a unique and valuable planet.

Archangel Ariel is often depicted with a globe, representing the planet Earth, or something symbolizing one of the four elements (air, fire, water, earth).

Invoke her presence and she will come to your aid to support your work in the world, especially where nature, natural resources and animals are concerned. And if you want to connect with nature Spirits, she can help you with this.

Archangel Ariel resonates with the colors gold and orange, with the constellation of Lyra and the number 8.

Saturdays Archangel – Cassiel

Archangel Cassiel is the resonant angel for Saturdays.

Known by many as the “angel of tears” he oversees the parts of life that we may perceive as limiting - karma, trials, tests and lessons, old age and reincarnation. He is also the guardian of land, property, houses and farming. It’s easy to see why he’s an archangel many would avoid, but if you lack stability in your life, and are willing to commit to long term goals by sacrificing immediate pleasures to get there, then he is your go-to angel.

He is serious and will help you deal with issues of a serious nature - death, missing persons, psychic attack and the eradication of illness, pests and disease. He is also here to assist us as we navigate boundaries and limitations, responsibility and authority, and our human mortality. He is the archangel to invoke when dealing with injustices and enslavement and in moments of deep fear.

Archangel Cassiel is often depicted as an old man or holding an hourglass.

Invoke his presence and he will come to your aid to help carry your burdens and share your woe. But he will also remind you of the necessity of hardship and the great learning that comes from the darkest hour.

Archangel Cassiel resonates with the colors of deep purple and black and with the planet Saturn.

So there you have it!

Amongst the plethora of angelic support available to you, there is resonance in the most ordinary mundane-ness as the days of the week - they hold much magic.

Try invoking these archangels on their days.

Try wearing their colors.

Your intention is an invitation and they will offer you their assistance!

Many blessing to you.

About Katherine Anne Lee

Katherine Anne Lee is a writer at Numerologist.com: a truth-teller and weaver of words and stories. She specializes in reading, describing and helping others to navigate the energetic patterns and rhythms that spiral through our worlds. Katherine has spent almost a decade training in the lunar mysteries, gathering extensive knowledge and experience in these esoteric arts. She offers practical tools and methods to help modern humans use and integrate this ancient wisdom, in a rapidly evolving world.